

Oceania Academy Listening and Sharing session

Reimagining Global Health Research, Care and Systems in the Pacific

Join us in our free listening and sharing session

26th August 2026 12 noon AEST

This interactive session will explore how local leadership, cultural knowledge, and equitable partnerships can strengthen child health and disability care across Oceania.

Building on discussions from the breakfast session Reimagining Global Health Research, Care and Systems Beyond Borders at the 2026 Oceania Academy Conference, this session will explore the importance of:

- Family-centred and community-informed approaches
- Local leadership, expertise, and workforce development
- Equitable and sustainable partnerships
- Culturally responsive and contextually relevant care
- Shared learning across diverse settings

The session will bring together perspectives from families, clinicians, researchers, and service providers, creating an opportunity for shared learning and discussion about advancing disability-inclusive health care across the Pacific.

The session will be facilitated by:

Tasneem Karim, Gaela Kilgour & Fleur Smith
